DISPENSING CHEMISTS, &c.
Sole Agents for Hongkong and China,
FOR
"LEMOINE" NATURAL CHAMPAGNE,
(Without Liqueur).
AWARDED PRIZE MEDAL, PARIS, 1889.

THE Special Features of this Pure Champagne are—

1st.—Its entire freedom from the usual sugarycandy, &c., consequently it is fresher, cleaner,
and more wholesome than the Liqueured
champagnes.

2nd.—Its delicacy, due to the first pressings
only of the grapes used: the later pressings make the wine rough and coarse, and necessitate the use of liqueur.

3rd.—Its Natural Dryness, which is not aggressive, making it more appetizing than satisfying.

4th.—No liqueur being added, the process of re-corking is very rapidly effected, so avoiding the large loss of carbonic acid gas—the most valuable property of Champagne.

Champagne should always be drunk cold; but to half freeze a light, delicate wine by putting it into an ice-pail for the best part of an hour, is to destroy all its fine vinous properties.

In former years, when heavily Liqueured Champagnes were alone obtainable, a good freezing was necessary to hide the nauseous
sweetness of a ten per cent. dose of sugar-candy
and alcohol; but consumers now demand a wine free from unnatural sweetness or alcohol—a sparkling vintage which can be taken freely at luncheon or dinner, and which will improve,
rather than destroy, the appetite.

We regret, owing to pressure on our new columns, to have to hold over until to-morrow

"An Old Sportsman's" full and complete report of the four days' racing. There are other reasons for delay: one or two delicate questions of racing law, gentlemanly feeling, and true sport have arisen, which are likely to lead to disagreeable

complications, and we naturally desire to refrain from expressing any opinions until the whole

facts have been elucidated and confirmed,

so that the Hongkong public, who are the legitimate owners of the Race-course, may be in a position to assert their undoubted and legal rights, if called upon. However, so far as we can gather, Captain R. J. Gardiner,

Deputy Assistant Commissioner General of Ordnance, has lodged a written complaint

with the Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club against Major Hannay, of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, of conduct, which, if proved, will certainly place the latter outside the pale of all recognised racing clubs in this hemisphere—and elsewhere.

We cannot vouch for the merits of the case, having only heard Capt. Gardiner's side of the question, and we consider that Major Hannay

is justly entitled to a full and fair hearing.

There has also been a good deal of talk of some uncomplimentary (and unparliamentary) epithets

addressed by Major Hannay to the Stewards of the Club, and we consider that Major Hannay towards Mr. Hector Sampson and the other

Commodore's Cup, and of certain unbecoming language the gallant Major is alleged to have used in the weighing room towards the Starter and Mr. W. P. Macdon, when weighing in after the race for the Nil Desperandum Stakes, in the presence of witnesses, including one of the Stewards.

On the other hand Major Hannay, two days
too late in our opinion, has lodged a complaint against Mr. Macdon for deliberately hitting Coquette, Major Hannay's mount in the Kewick Cup, with his whip during the race,
and also in riding Starlight (the Major's mount) on the rails in the Garrison Cup. But as these objections are specially provided for
No. 171 of the Newmarket Rules of Racing, sub-sections 4 and 7, and by Rule 172 to which we direct the attention of the Stewards of the Jockey Club, it would appear that the Major's two offences are clearly defined, and, as we shall fully report these matters later on.

its working. I venture to ask for papers descriptive of your association.

My object is to offer the convenience of these Rooms to members of your body who may be enjoining in London, and to inquire if you are disposed to reciprocate.

In these Rooms information on any subject connected with shipping, and generally speaking all matters, can be obtained from members of the Committee or the writer.

The Committee are desirous of making this Society useful to the Profession, and especially to its members and those of kindred associations.

With cordial good wishes of the season I beg to subscribe myself

Yours faithfully,

A. G. FROUD, R.M.N., Secretary.

After the letter had been read the Secretary was instructed to reply to it in the affirmative, and to have both the letter and the reply printed and circulated amongst the members of the Association.

Captain Ashton said the value of the alliance with the Shipmasters' Society of London would hardly be over-estimated. It was an old established and influential body, with such men as Captain H. F. Holt, T. Alderton (P. & O.), H. Longley (Monter, Wigan & Co.), W. F. Hewison (Orient Co.), W. E. Hutchinson, R.N.R., (B. I. S. N. Co.), J. A. Browne (Lloyd's), on the Committee of Management. This kind offer had not been solicited by him and he therefore appreciated it as strong evidence of approval of the policy this young association had pursued from the outset. Any member of the British Mercantile Marine Officers' Association would meet with a hearty welcome in London by the Secretary and Committee of the Shipmasters' Society. (Applause.) As regards the Sunday Labour Question he had pleasure in stating that there were good reasons for believing that public opinion, both at home and abroad, and throughout the Colonies, was developing strongly in favour of a universal recognition of the right of all men to rest on the Sabbath. The local Association had undertaken a great task in this connection, but was not an impossible one. Victory without a struggle amounted to no victory at all, and those who suffered defeat could not reproach themselves for having of their own free will adopted an attitude which had led to action, not only by the Mercantile Marine of Great Britain but also of that powerful religious organisation known as the Mission to Seamen, which had branches all over the world (hear, hear). Referring to the Namoa piracy, the President said he had much pleasure in laying on the table the full reports of the capture of twenty-one of the gangs who attacked the Namoa in December last, which had been received from Lieutenant Alcock, a dashing officer who at great risk to his life had personally led the Water Police of Macao in the attack upon the house of the reputed chief instigator of that dastardly outrage, and in seizing him and two junks full of pirates, in all twenty-one of the gangs that were in possession of the Namoa for upwards of eight hours (loud applause). As President of the Association he had much pleasure in tendering his congratulations to Lieutenant Alcock, who it was clear, had rendered very valuable services to the Mercantile Marine, for it was the captain and officers of ships that were the first to bear the brunt of piratical attacks, and the fact of the capture of so many of these desperadoes could but prove a source of comfort to those who were constantly exposed to the danger of attack at the hands of criminals of the deepest dye. He trusted that at no very distant date to hear of the capture of the chief of the gang, who was a well-known character to the police of Hongkong and Macao (applause).

PRESENTATION TO THE PRESIDENT.

At this juncture Mr. H. Bathurst stepped forward and presented a silk flag, with the letters B.M.M.O.A. worked in blue on a white ground, and an address to the President.

Mr. Bathurst said—Sir, we come before you to-night to perform a very pleasant duty—that of presenting you with a flag on behalf of the members of this Association. We believe we are justified in so doing as under the favour of your leadership we are now to see respect in all parts of the world. We ask you to accept this as a humble token of our appreciation of the work you have done in our behalf. The Secretary will now read the address. (Loud applause).

Mr. Duncan then read the address, as follows:—

"To Captain Samuel Ashton, President of the British Mercantile Marine Officers' Association (Hongkong), Associate of the Institute of Naval Architects (Great Britain), Member of the Mercantile Marine Service Association (Liverpool), Commander of the Douglas Steamship Line (Hongkong) &c, &c.

Sir,—We have the pleasure of approaching you to-day for the purpose of asking the favour of your acceptance of the accompanying silk flag, which we hand to you as a humble token of our gratitude for the great services which you have rendered to this young association and to the profession generally. We also ask you to regard it as a mark of our esteem, and the pride we feel in having you as our President. We are fully cognisant that the many and unselfish stances which you have taken in our behalf, and in the interests of the British Mercantile Marine, have been attended with no insignificant amount of risk to your popularity in society generally, outside the sphere of your profession, and with risk, too, of personal loss. But you have doubtless counted the cost and arrived at the conclusion, we opine, that the course you were pursuing when accepting the presidency of this association in June last was justified by your keen sense of duty to your country, your profession and, lastly, yourself. Believing, as we do, that as a loss of popularity would be a long and many one in the career of a man of your calibre, we are not surprised that you have not hesitated to accept a compliment and important charge. I am, I assure you, very proud to receive this token of gratitude for the humble services which it has been my pleasure to render. I am sorry that I have no flag of my own to fly this flag on, and I think it might be rather presumptuous on my part to fly it without the full permission of my employers. Obedience to your employers and respect for them will, I believe, eventually lead to the greatest happiness and success of all mercantile marine officers, and although I receive your flag with feelings of delight, you will understand I cannot fly it without the permission of the Company I serve. I would rather wish this honour had been done me after this Society has accomplished the task it has set itself to perform, that is the abolition of all unnecessary Sunday labour on board ship in this harbour. (Applause.) At the same time, I feel it a great honour as coming spontaneously from men of my own profession, men who are going through the same life as I have lived myself. I trust that some day, I hope a not very far distant day, I shall have the right to fly this flag on my own little flagstaff. (Applause.) You know that every old sailor, when he coils up his ropes and settles down in a little place of his own, the first thing he does is to erect a flagstaff, and I assure you gentlemen, that when I have my own flagstaff, I shall fly this flag and watch it with pride waving over my home. (Loud applause). Believe me that I heartily thank every member of this association for the honour that has been done me. (Applause).

The Secretary announced that Lieut. C. Alcock, Harbour-master, Macao, a dashing officer who at great risk to his own life succeeded in capturing the reputed instigator of the piratical attack on the Namoa, twenty of the gang who took part in the attack and two of their junks, had accepted the honorary membership which he had felt it his duty to offer to him in view of the great service he had rendered to the mercantile marine. In bringing so many of these desperadoes to justice (Loud Applause). He had been to Macao himself to inquire into the matter of the capture of Mau Ayune, the reputed instigator of the attack and others connected therewith, and he became acquainted with Lieut. Alcock who assisted him greatly in delving almost to the bottom of the whole affair, and he hoped the day was not very distant when would be laid bare what appeared to be the lamentable outcome of one of the most atrocious plots that ever stained the annals of colonial history (Applause).

The Secretary was formally authorised to thank Lieut. Alcock, and tender to him the congratulations of the President and members of the Association.

CAPTURE OF PIRATES.

The subjoined translations of official reports respecting the capture of the Namoa pirates were laid on the table:—

Proclamation by the Governor of Macao.

(Translation.)

Be it known that I, appreciating the grave responsibility of my position as Governor of this place, in view of the daring act of piracy committed on board the British steamer Namoa ordered the authorities, especially the Water Police and Land Forces, to proceed with the greatest persistency and discretion in the discovery and capture of those implicated in such a heinous crime both in the interests of justice and to allay public indignation.

I hear that the Water Police have distinguished themselves in the execution of my orders and by acts of true bravery, skill and tact have succeeded in apprehending, besides the old pirate chief and desperado Mau Ayune, alias Pau Lau Yune, the reputed author of the attack on the said steamer, the pirates Ho Fat Cheong, Pang Chang-fun, Leong Acheung and many others who undoubtedly took part in that act of piracy.

Taking into consideration how acts of this nature are always worthy of the highest appreciation of those in authority, I have now found it convenient to praise and specially commend and Lieutenant of the Navy, José Carlos Alcock, at present acting Captain of the port of Macao; Inspector B. S. Rodrigues; ensign E. Pereira and lukong Leong Sam-tai (all members of the Water Police), for the tact, courage and energy displayed (and risk to their own lives) while in the execution of such arduous and delicate public duties.

Let the competent authorities take due note. (Sd.) CUSTODIA MIGUEL BORGIA, Governor.

Government House.

Macao, 31st February, 1891.

Regarding the capture of Mau Lau Yune, said to be the instigator of the attack on the Namoa, I have to report as follows:—

For some days past, from the house where I reside at the end of Praya Grande, I noticed an unusual movement of Chinese on the side of the Bom Pesto fort, some of whom were climbing over the wall to the rocks beneath the said fort, which, added to the circumstance that the residence of Mau Lau Yune was near mine, made me suspect the possibility of his being hidden about the hill, and that the movement displayed had for its object not only communicating with the pirates, but also to get information of the police's plans for his apprehension.

Under these circumstances I instructed police ensign No. 2, Evandro Pereira, an energetic officer, to watch that place, and yesterday, at 11.45 p.m., I went to the place to learn if there was any news. I found the ensign hidden, together with lukong No. 5, Leong Sam-tai, who informed me that nothing extraordinary had been seen. But while making up my mind to retire, I saw a figure descend from the wall, and in the direction of my house. We ran towards it, and the lukong recognised it to be Mau Lau Yune's wife, who, on being interrogated, said that she went there to "chín-chín-joss," not being satisfied with this answer, and thinking that he (Mau Lau Yune) might possibly be in the house, and simply told his wife to go out and see if there was anything to prevent his escape. I resolved to search his own house, which I did, accompanied by the ensign, and the door was opened to us, on being knocked, by the woman.

We searched the basement, which was lit up, and found some children, but on going upstairs, guided by the light of the lukong's lantern, we came upon a Chinaman of whom we laid hold, threatening him with revolvers, and on bringing the lamp close up, the ensign recognised him to be Mau Lau Yune, who, being thus surprised, gave himself up without much resistance. He was then conducted to the Water Police Station, where he was searched and locked up in a cell, within sight of the guards. On his person were found three cash and a parcel containing a few pieces of metal which appeared to me to be gold. Half an hour afterwards it was noticed by the man keeping watch on the prisoner that the latter was breathing heavily and was in agony. Being at once informed of this, I promptly sent for medical assistance. Shortly after this, Dr. Luis Lourenço, Francis of the Board of Health, came, and, having examined the prisoner, said that he was in a dying condition. The prisoner expired at 2.10 a.m. A watch was kept over the house in which the capture was effected, and a report was made to the Crown Prosecutor.

I have the honour, etc.,

JOSÉ CARLOS ALCOCKIA, Second Lieut. R.N.M., Acting Harbour Master.

4. QUEEN'S ROAD.

GENTLEMEN'S OUTFITTERS. NEW PREMISES. COLONIAL HOUSE, 4, QUEEN'S ROAD CENTRAL.

Hongkong, 23rd February, 1891.

Governor.—At 7.10 p.m. yesterday, Chan Ah, engineer on board one of the police steam launchers, informed Inspector Rodrigues, of the Water Police, that the Chinese Ho Fat Cheong, brother to Ho Fat To, one of those concerned in the piratical attack on the Namoa, was on board a lancha lying in the inner harbour. Accordingly, the Inspector proceeded towards her, on board the launch, and brought in custody all the Chinese found on board the lancha, to the Harbour Office. Ho Fat Cheong was picked out of the number, and identified as the brother of Ho Fat To. Chan Kwan Cheong, Fan Ah, Li Ah, Chan Chio Leong, and the woman Chan Achin were also identified. In conversation with the imprisoned crew, the Inspector succeeded in learning that there was, in the harbour, another junk belonging to Ho Fat To, and as he failed to find her at the spot reported as her anchorage, he resolved to look for her off the Praya Grande and in the Roads with the launch Andrada, ensign No. 4, José Miguel Cordero, being kept on watch in the launch Corvo in the inner harbour.

This, however, could only be effected at 9 p.m., and as the Inspector took with him some of the imprisoned crew, he succeeded at one o'clock on the following morning, in capturing, near Kai Kiang, the junk in question, on board of which were found Pang Kam Fun, Ho Ahoi, and Leong Amul, brother-in-law, sister and wife, respectively, of Ho Fat To; Pang Sang Fo, father of Pang Kam Fun, the late Ho Acheo, and Ao Amul, sons of Ho Fat To, and the late Kang Amul, Pang Ah, Pang Ah, Pang Ah, and Pang Ah, sons of Pang Kam Fun. When this junk was boarded, it was observed that one of the crew lowered himself down by the stern and tried to escape notice by holding on to the rudder. The junk was then towed into the inner harbour, where the Inspector gave orders to the police boat on duty there to search the stern of the junk in order to secure the man, who realizing his position plunged into the water and was captured. This man, whose name is Leong Acheo, is well known in Macao, where he has several times been imprisoned for keeping up communications with evil-doers, and it is supposed that it was he who, seeing the police launch coming near the first junk, embarked on board the other and sailed away.

Pang Kam Fun, also said that Ho Fat To was in the whereabouts of Kolowan, and offered to point out the place where he took refuge, and where could be found the armaments of the Namoa together with a great portion of money and other articles among which was a binocular glass.

The Inspector having communicated to me these facts, and having made preparations as regards men and ammunition for the purpose of securing Ho Fat To, I left Macao at 7 a.m. to-day in one of the captured junks accompanied by the launch Talpa, but after passing Kolowan, the island of Ladrão Grande (Mansan) was pointed out as the spot where Ho Fat To had taken refuge. This island, not being within our jurisdiction, the Inspector returned to Macao without making the apprehension.

When the second junk was captured, Chao Kwan Cheong, Fan Ah, Lo Chep, and Chan Chio Leong said that some of the Namoa money would be found in a water-tank on board their junk, and a search having been made, 130 silver dollars were found in a sack. Of these there were new. In the cabin were also found 13 chopped dollars. On the first junk were found $35 in Hongkong bank notes, $168 in silver, almost all chopped, broken silver to the value of $5.35, two 20-cent pieces, with holes, attached to a silver alloy chain as though worn as trinkets, one 5-cent piece and a few cash, besides some gold and silver jewellery of little value. On board each of the junks was found one box containing costly wearing apparel.

The prisoners were conveyed to the Procurator, the junks being detained off the Harbour Office by orders of the authorities.

It was very gratifying to see the zeal and good-will displayed by the members of the Water Police, especially Inspector Belling Sergio Rodrigues, who proved to be indefatigable.

I have the honour to be, etc.,

(Signed) JOSÉ CARLOS ALCOCKIA, Acting Harbour Master.

THE DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY AT BRITISH KOWLOON.

Chen Shu Hing was charged on remand, before Mr. Woodhouse this morning, with stealing from the person of Mrs. Chan Wo Yung, on the highway near Ma Sau Wat (Kowloon) money and jewellery, valued at $16.35, on the 19th inst.

Wa Kin, brother of the complainant, gave evidence similar to that given by his sister on Friday last.

Inspector Bremser said the prisoner was a "fictitious" man.

Ames, receiving officer of Victoria Gaol, said he recognised the prisoner as being the man who was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude at the Supreme Court on the 27th October, 1889. He was released on the 6th August last.

The prisoner made a statement to the effect that the complainant's family had conspired against him because he was an opium watcher on the Canton wharf.

His Worship sentenced the prisoner to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour, to receive twenty-five strokes with the rattan, and to finish the remainder of his unexpired sentence.
